We come together for
a quick telling of the tale,
a delicious Charoset Competition*,
drinks and dessert, activities for kids...
and Rabbi Feshbach's provocative revelation of...
The Secret Message of the Seder

This is meat pot-luck, so please bring a dish for lunch.
Kosher style (no shrimp, no pork, no mixing of meat and milk)
but because this is before the holiday it does not need to be Kosher-for-Passover.

And bring an original/creative Charoset dish for comparison tasting!
Charoset – also called Haroset, or Charoses – is the paste meant to resemble mortar.

You can learn more about its history and background here.

Sample Charoset recipes can be found here.

Volunteers for activities and set up appreciated!
